

Why is life insurance important?

It can be a cost-effective way to help protect your family and finances in the event something happens to you. For many people, it helps ensure that if something unforeseen should happen, short- and long-term financial obligations could be met. Your family may rely on you to help keep the household running. It's important to take steps to make sure your family would be financially prepared if you were no longer there to handle expenses like your mortgage or rent payments, utilities and college bills.

There are a number of different term life insurance plans available to you. Find the plan that's right for you.

The Accelerated Benefits Option (ABO) is subject to state availability and regulation. The ABO benefits are intended to qualify for favorable federal tax treatment, in which case the benefits will not be subject to federal taxation. This information was written as a supplement to the marketing of life insurance products. Tax laws relating to accelerated benefits are complex and limitations may apply. You are advised to consult with and rely on an independent tax advisor about your own particular circumstances. Receipt of ABO benefits may affect your eligibility, or that of your spouse or your family, for public assistance programs such as medical assistance (Medicaid), Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF), Supplementary Social Security Income (SSI) and drug assistance programs. You are advised to consult with social service agencies concerning the effect that receipt of ABO benefits will have on public assistance eligibility for you, your spouse or your family.

Like most insurance policies, insurance policies offered by MetLife and its affiliates contain certain exclusions, exceptions, reductions, limitations, waiting periods and terms for keeping them in force. Please contact your plan administrator for costs and complete details.
